

“Wagner Shift”

- A statistical shift, in a given geographical study area (population), from large numbers of severe diabetic wounds to fewer numbers of severe diabetic wounds because of community prevention programs, early wound intervention, and improved wound healing and amputation prevention protocols

